

CHAPTER 7

FUTURE PROGRAMME OF WORK

7.1 As mentioned in paragraphs 2.12 and 2.13, the Pay Trend Survey Committee will consider how the 1988/89 Pay Trend Survey should proceed on the basis of the recommendations made in the interim report of the Committee of Inquiry. We shall, however, resume our regular review of the methodology for future pay trend surveys at an appropriate time in 1989.

7.2 We understand that the proposals on civil service housing benefits are being examined by the Administration in consultation with the staff associations and will be forwarded to us for advice in early 1989. We also intend to examine further the leave and passage arrangements for new appointees upon the completion of implementation of the revised arrangements for serving officers by the Administration.

7.3 Following the completion of the review regarding the disciplined services, the Government announced on 21 November 1988 that it would consider inviting this Commission to conduct a review of the salary structure of grades in the non-disciplined services. We expect to hear further from the Administration in this area during 1989.
